Amber& Nick Radio Hour opens November 15th at Scottish Rite Theater

12 year old Amber and brother Nick present a highly interactive, golden age radio show with vintage music, dance, commercials, foley sound table and zany characters, all performed live with help from a studio audience of families and kids.

Come make sound effects with Outlaw Jack, Play the drums for Jungle Joe, Dance the Charleston like Daisy Mae, Board the time machine with Johnny Angel and be ready to shout and cheer when the applause sign lights up.

Kids and parents get a glimpse of back stage antics as London Jane loses her hat, Calamity Am ropes the mic stand and Brooklyn Joanna almost misses her commercial.

After the show, kids can try out the foley sound effects table, tune a real 1931 old time radio and snap a photo with their favorite character from the show.

Background:

Amber and Nick have performed in Austin and Central Texas for more than 5 years featuring lively, interactive shows with song and dance tunes from the 20 s, 30 s, 40 s and 50's. The brother/sister duo has been featured on KUTX, the Chuy's Parade, Zilker Hillside Theatre, Texas Book Festival, Austin Ice Cream Festival, Nutty Brown Cafe, Central Market and numerous other venues.

Younger audiences love to dance and sing along with Amber and Nick while moms and dads are charmed by their antics and humorous one liners. They frequently call on volunteers to help with shakers, bubbles, chorus parts and dance steps. Amber & Nick's big personalities and improvised routines charm audiences of all ages.

Featured songs include Don't Mean a Thing, Anything Goes, Rock Around the Clock, Blue Skies, Roly Poly, Mr Sandman, Chattanooga Choo Choo and more.
